Why this project?

"This project grew out of the belief that music and choral singing transcend company boundaries, hierarchies, generations and cultures. It is a great pleasure to conduct these two excellent groups, whose professional environments are very different. Bringing them together gives them the chance to perform beyond their usual walls and experience singing in a larger choir."

Fanny Aymer, Founder of Choral and Company, Musical Director

"A choir creates a bond unlike other leisure activities, such as sport or museum visits. My colleagues have become fellow choir members. When our voices blend, we look at one another in amazement at the beauty we have created together. Making and sharing music is an incomparable feeling."

Anne d'Aste Blanc, Banque de Luxembourg

"The HRS choir began with the desire to bring people from every profession together around a shared project: singing together and cultivating joy. When we sing for patients in the wards, we experience the power of choral music. The emotion in those brief moments is worth its weight in gold!"

Caroline Turk, Hôpitaux Robert Schuman
